

Editor's Introduction to Education Section

A special session on EM education was convened at the PIERS 2013 conference held in Stockholm last August. The organizer of this session was Ari Sihvola of Finland, and we asked him to put together a number of PPT contributions at this session and add his annotations as an introduction. Sihvola has generated the write-up which appears below. This session and similar ones convened at other conferences have been very popular, and we hope that the readers will not only comment on the material, but will also add their own ideas on improving the way we teach EM to our graduate as well as undergraduate students.

Separately, Jayanti Venkataraman has agreed to coordinate the Education section of FERMAT and to solicit reader comments as well as contributions on EM Education.
